Home Manufactures

We cheerfully give place to the following letter, which substantially discusses a question to which we have frequently alluded It is high time that our citizens should feel and act more sensibly than they have done in the matter of supplying their own wants by their own productive industry rather than by importations which are constantly draining our State of its wealth This is so well suggested and enforced by our correspondent that we trust his remarks will in some measure tend to inspire among our people a more active spirit of enterprise and self-protection

EDITOR OREGONIAN

To a stranger inquiring on his arrival here, the business, the duty and the destiny of Oregon, the answers would be so various and so conflicting as to bewilder rather than enlighten him One would pretend that it is cheaper to buy flour and beef and butter and cheese in California, than to raise or produce them here Another would claim that Oregon cannot manufacture the machinery required for general use because labor is too high The same answer will be given in reference to the manufacturing of almost every thing needed here—woolen goods, hats, furniture, farm implements, paints, oils, glass, paper, &c

Oregon is not claiming to be the greatest farming country—it she did, she has no sufficient market. This we all know, and if she is not a manufacturing country, her appropriate sphere is unrevealed. It may perhaps be said of her gold mines that they are sufficient and inexhaustible—but too much of one thing is good for nothing The water that runs over the falls at Oregon City is abundant that is true, yet none of it stops at the falls, but marches on, and so soon as the fountain ceases to furnish the supply, those rocks that cause the fall will no more rejoice with the burden of water, but will be a beggared mass of dry rocks

It is true the agricultural capacity of the State is fully sufficient to supply home consumption, and though extravagant prices may not be obtained, yet that business will pay, for it keeps the money in the country, and the saving of one dollar is equal to ten

The next step should be to save to the country the hundred thousand dollars or more that is sent abroad annually for farming implements. We have iron in abundance, and mechanical labor is not any higher here this very day here than in New York, Pittsburg, or elsewhere in the States Wool and furs are fifty per cent cheaper here than in New York, according to the market quotations Some portion of the above is worked up here, yet the imports are at at least $150,000 yearly. Hemp and flax could be raised here to great profit, as the country is robbed annually of thousands of dollars for articles which can be manufactured from these, such as linseed oil, rope, twine and paper What could be more remunerative than the manufacture of paper at its present high price Glass, too, could be blown here to profit, as it would save blowing money out of the State (?)

Unless I am greatly mistaken in the resources and prospects of Oregon, her citizens should turn immediately apply their wits and their capital, so far needed, to the manufacturing of all the various articles of trade and commerce, which the soil, climate and location furnish facilities for, or make possible If so, the State will triumphantly win wealth and prosperity But the power and the choice belong to herself She may choose to bankrupt herself in importing, rather than enrich herself by exporting, if so, she will be ordinary among the sister States, if not least of all It is therefore greatly, and more than can be told, for our interest to patronize and encourage in every way home industry even though we have to pay twenty-five per cent more for home work and home industry It will all come back to us and we will be justified in the end. Yours in haste,

CITIZEN

A DESERTER —Gen Frank Gardner, the recent rebel commander at Port Hudson, is a deserter from the U S army He held a commission at the beginning of the rebellion, and entered the service of the traitors without waiting to tender his resignation He is liable, therefore, at any time to be tried and shot for his treason and desertion We believe he is a son of Col C K Gardner, formerly surveyor-general of this State The father, we are glad to know, is intensely firm in his loyalty, as also are his sons, Clinton and Charles, who were well known in Oregon The latter has been for some time the faithful adjutant general of the division under Major General Parke, formerly connected with the N W Boundary commission

A LIE FAIRLY NAILED —The Dalles Journal on Saturday honestly struck from the head of its editorial column the pretended extract from Webster's speech and frankly says, in reply to our request for proof of its genuineness that it can't find it—something wrong We take it all back then and we do find it" So that gun is effectually spiked and forever, as the journal can note find any authority for such a libel on the Defender of the Constitution, more than it can for infidelity in Holy Writ

MR WM BAKER Postal Agent returned here yesterday from Vancouver, having successfully accomplished, as we are glad to learn, all the objects of his recent official mission He leaves today for San Francisco, being obliged to go over Salt Lake and after returning from there will come again to Oregon

POSTAL —We are informed that the Post Office at Pleasant Hill Lane county is discontinued That the office for that region will hereafter be at Cloverdale, where J F Gilfrey is present post master.

News by the Steamer

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says Senator Conness of California—the gentleman who was elected last winter after so many ballotings by a coalition of War Democrats and Republicans succeed Latham—has been here two or three days, on his first visit to Washington since his entrance into political life. He seems to have agreeably disappointed those who were left into regrets at the time of his election that, with the overwhelming Republican majority, there was any necessity to elect a man whose antecedents were at least doubtful By the bold and uncompromising nature of the views he expressed on the slavery question and in relations to the rebellion, he will be an efficient supporter of the Administration on the Senate thus giving one more Administration vote in that body

The Tribune says all the vessels of war engaged in the late operations on the Mississippi are to be surveyed in obedience to official orders, and such of them as need repairs are to be sent home This is practically withdrawing for the present the vessels Nearly every ship composing the fleet has suffered severely in action, and must be relieved

PEORIA, Ill, August 14—The Provost Marshal of the Ninth Congressional District with a detachment of cavalry, made a descent on the east of two hundred Copperheads and Deserters in Isabel town ship, Fulton county, capturing ten or twelve, and, as reports say, killing a number Considerable excitement prevails among the Copperheads who declare their determination to clean out the county

NEWPORT, R I August 15—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Democratic Committee held in this city today, the following resolution was unanimously passed

Resolved, That the meeting of the National Democratic Committee be called at the St Nicholas Hotel, New York for Monday September 7th, 1863, at noon for the purpose of fixing the time and place for holding the next National Democratic Convention, and taking into consideration such other matters of interest as will probably come before the Convention

MILWAUKEE, Wis, August 17—The following has been received from Gen Sibley dated August 7th We have had three desperate engagements with 2 200 Sioux warriors in each of which they were routed and finally driven across the Missouri river, with the loss of all their subsistence etc Our loss was small, while at least one hundred and fifty savages were killed and wounded

SIBLEY

Gen Sutly marched from Fort Pierre on the 20th of July, with 1200 cavalry, and doubtless will intercept the flying Sioux Little Crow the principal Chief and instigator of the Indian hostilities has been killed and his son captured Indian hostilities east of the Missouri river may be considered ended

ST PAUL Minn, August 15—Later reports from Sibley's expedition says that the battles occurred on the 24th of July and 5th and 6th of August The Indians lost all their property, many thousand dollars in value, including tents, buffalo robes, skins and dried meat by the ton, scattered over their track for a distance of 10 miles They crossed the Missouri with their ponies and 6 miles but left hundreds of their wagons on the side — Sibley had only 15 days rations and animals being worn down, he did not deem it prudent to pursue them, and is homeward bound Only 1,000 Indians were engaged in the first day's battle Half of them had guns In the second battle at Buffalo lake and the last at Stony lake, 2,000 were engaged, but their only object seemed to be to cover the retreat of their families

NEW YORK, August 15—Sterling exchange, dull and low, at 147½@147¾ Gold, lower, opening at 125¾ and closing heavy at 124⅝@124¾, Government securities steady—6's of '81 coupons, 106¾, 7 30's, 106¾—Total export of specie to-day, $480,000.

WASHINGTON, August 15—The latest intelligence from the front represents both sides as active, but doing nothing likely to produce a serious collision The War Department has issued a general order forbidding officers leaving their colors or ranks to take private property, under the penalty of death

The eagerness to hear from Charleston is very great, although the fullest confidence is felt in the final success of the enterprise

There is no truth in the rumored resignation or removal of Gen Meade

WASHINGTON, August 16—During the past week the Board of Enrollment have had before them 476, of this number 290 were exempted, and 161 offered substitutes, which were accepted Of those originally drafted 13 were accepted and 6 paid the commutation Thus out of 476 drafted, 180 soldiers were obtained

The Court of Inquiry to investigate the evacuation of Winchester and Martinsburg is organized, composed of Brigadier Generals Barry, Abercrombie and DeRussey.

FORTRESS MONROE, August 15—The Richmond Enquirer of Monday last expresses strong condemnation of the course that North Carolina is pursuing, in calling a mass convention, unless North Carolina proposes sending a delegation to Washington

Richmond correspondence of the Mobile Tribune says: We are now in the very throes of revolution [dissolution?] The blood and sweat and agony of our labors for the birth of liberty are upon us All hopes of peace become obscured by impenetrable gloom — At every point of the compass from which we look for fair wind and bright sky, dark storm clouds frown and lower The cloud has come when every State of this Confederacy must depend upon itself Let blind adherents and partisans close their eyes, but the people must awaken to the fact that our Government lacks vigor, health and strength — We do not mean to attempt for a moment to impair the confidence of the people in the high interest devotion and patriotism of our President In this crisis all men are not endowed with the same great mental moral and physical abilities. The President has certainly not called around him men of that distinguished stamina as statesmen who might have been selected, even if he had united on all occasions, the eminent talents himself The people of the States therefore must look to their own defence, using every means in their power and arming with vigor courage and determination, while giving to us full credit for our hearty support and co-operation to the Administration

ST LOUIS, August 15—A despatch from Gen McNeil, commanding at Springfield says that Lieut Col Coffee with a force of rebels and Indian half breeds made an attack on the 6th Missouri cavalry, under Col Catherwood Coffee was defeated, with a loss of 30 killed and wounded, a large number of prisoners, all his wagons, ammunition stores cattle and horses All demonstration under Capt Hirsch put all the prisoners to the sword, killing and wounding The rebel force was in all two hundred

WASHINGTON, August 16—Information from the army of the Potomac to night indicates no change in the position of the armies but a large suspicion is felt that the rebels are attempting a flank movement on the left Rumors reached the army from the vicinity of Dumfries that a large rebel force was approaching that place but headquarters has no positive information in regard to it However it may be, we are ready for them in that quarter

NEW YORK, August 16—A New Orleans letter in the Herald says the people of Mobile is very despondent They anticipate an attack every day It is thought that if the city were seriously threatened it would surrender Provisions are very high, and no medicine or means of caring for the sick The squadron off Mobile has been largely increased The papers of that city say that strong guerrilla parties are being organized to annoy boats, and destroy the navigation of the Mississippi

WINCHESTER, Tenn August 10—The enemy, in the act of retreat over the Tennessee river, fired the magnificent bridge at Bridgeport, but succeeded in destroying only two spans on this side of the river Discovering that preparations were being made to repair the damage, a strong force of rebels advanced last night and destroyed the remainder — Gen Sheridan fired a few rounds at them, but received no response Rebel deserters who came in this morning reported their force at Chattanooga at 4 000

HELENA, Ark, August 11—The guerrillas in this vicinity are quite bold and vigorous in their operations A bearer of despatches from Gen Davidson to Gen Steele, with a escort of 15 men, was attacked a day or two since 20 miles from here by 100 guerrillas The horses of the Federals were much worn down, but they nevertheless endeavored to outrun their assailants The chase continued until our pickets five miles out, were reached when the rebels retired They captured 12 out of 18

MEMPHIS, August 13—News from the south says that a force of rebels estimated at 7,000 infantry and 3 000 cavalry under Gen Loring, are marching towards Natchez, and planters coming into that place within the past few days state that the rebels are conscripting fully one half of the able bodied negroes in Mississippi The rebel General Dick Taylor, who is also near that place, advises the planters to turn their best negroes over to the Confederacy, stating if they did not, the Federals would put guns into the hands of the negroes to murder them and plunder The report of retirement of Gen Price is not confirmed When last heard from he was in the vicinity of Jacksonport, having succeeded Lieut Gen Holmes in command of the troops of Arkansas His army consists of abt 17 000 men

European Intelligence

ST JOHN'S N F, August 15—The steamer Hibernian from Liverpool the 5th has arrived

The Confederate loan in London had declined to 35 per cent discount, but had rallied to 24 [?]

Capt Luce of the ship Sunrise publishes the particulars of the capture of his vessel by the pirate Florida The latter was flying the American flag when she overhauled the Sunrise but after some inquiry hoisted the Confederate flag and sent a prize crew on board Capt Luce ultimately signed a ransom bond of $60,000, in presence of an armed force.

The Times contains a letter from McRae, the agent of the Confederate loan, which says the purchase of cotton by the Confederate government amounts to 500,000 bales — The cotton is principally in Georgia and Alabama, and some in Eastern Mississippi and North western Louisiana

The Daily Morning Post, in its editorial on the Canada defences says "We have no confident belief that the Federal bluster will produce a salutary effect in Canada"

It is generally agreed that, instead of a collective note to Russia, each of the three Cabinets will forward a seperate note, identical in idea, to St. Petersburg. It is stated that Austria declines going beyond diplomatic action.

The funds are firmer, Consols advancing under the improving tendency and the same occurred at the French Bourse, the more general belief being that the Polish question will not result in war

READ, MOTHERS, READ!—How many a mother has waked up at MIDNIGHT AND FOUND HER CHILD BREATHING HARD, ATTENDED WITH PECULIAR WHISTLING OR BARKING COUGH, which would be relieved by the use of DR WM HALL'S BALSAM, and reply, a thousand times the cost, by having it once in time of need, to give relief to the struggling child? Then why delay in procuring a remedy for such a sudden disease, which is CARRYING OFF THOUSANDS OF OUR CHILDREN EVERY YEAR! SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to August 17th.

NEWBERN, N C, August 13—A meeting of the citizens of North Carolina, representing every county in the 1st, 2d and a portion of the 3d Congressional districts was held at Washington, N C, on the 11th Resolutions were adopted sympathizing with the great conservative party of the State during this department as the only means by which the Union sentiment in the interior can be made useful in restoring North Carolina to the Union also, asking the Government reinforcements for this purpose, concealing the Confederate Government of cruelty and perfidy towards North Carolina and declaring her people absolved from any further obligations to sustain it, placing the responsibility of the destruction of slavery on Jeff Davis and his fellow conspirators, and expressing the belief that North Carolina will lend ample compensation in free labor for the present inconvenience of emancipation Reports from the Union victories in the Kentucky return in the ability of the Administration in the conduct of the war and especially in the sound national currency organized by the Secretary of the Treasury

CAIRO August 17th—In a reconnoissance recently made from Natchez to Woodville the capitol of Wilkinson county, forty miles distant and connected by railroad with St Francisville, near Bayou Sara the expedition destroyed five locomotives, 35 passenger and platform cars, with a rebel cotton factory and cotton manufactured, valued at $200 000 This destruction of railroad facilities will prove a very serious blow to the rebels, while other advantages hardly less important to our arms must result from the opening up of the South western country which the expedition has shown to be practicable

NEWBERN Aug 16—The Raleigh Standard of a late date holds a very able article four columns in length, denouncing the treachery of the Confederates, showing the fallacy of their promises and the ill success of their efforts stating that a portion only of the five original seceded States remain in the hands of the Confederates, and proposing that North Carolina in her sovereign power make immediate overtures to the North for peace

Three fourths of the rebel prisoners confined here desire to take the oath of allegiance so that they can remain within the confines of our lines

FORTRESS MONROE, Aug 17—The steamer A R Paulding from Morris Island August 16th, arrived on Thursday The monitors were all stripped and prepared for action At daylight on Friday, our batteries on Morris Island opened them fire, which lasted an hour or two when they ceased The monitors did not fire a shot, as soon as the batteries ceased firing the monitors put up their awnings No explanation is given for this movement It is rumored says during the short engagement he saw saw several shot strike Sumter, causing bricks and mortar to fly profusely One of our officers who left Morris Island on Friday, speaks confidently of our prospects

CAIRO, August 17—Admiral Porter notifies the public that gunboats are now stationed on the Mississippi river, all the way to New Orleans, where there is danger of guerrillas Vessels therefore need not wait for a convoy

A party consisting of four captains, one private and one citizen, while going from Germantown to White Station on Thursday evening, were fired on by a party in ambush One captain and the citizen escaped, the others were wounded, and they surrendered. The gunboat Cincinnati has been raised and is now lying near Vicksburg, undergoing repairs

ALBANY, August 17—Information has been received of the destruction of Hare's shoddy mill at Chooles and burning to death several female operatives The flames spread with fearful rapidity, and the only means of escape left the girls were the windows Some of them were so terror stricken as to abandon themselves to their fate and perished in the flames others fell from the window into the fire, and many were badly injured by jumping to the ground Twenty five are missing, fifteen of whom are reported burned to death

NEW YORK, August 17—Sterling firm at 128¾ Gold opened at 125¾, advanced to 125⅞, and closed dull at 125¾ Government stocks without decided change Bank statements show a decrease in loans of $1,254,000, decrease of specie, $231,000, increase of deposits, $581,000.

NEW YORK, August 17—The City of Washington has arrived with dates from Liverpool of the 4th and Queenstown the 5th — Ship Constitution to Philadelphia from Valparaiso, was captured by the pirate Georgia, on June 25, and released on bond. Ship City of Bath at Cadiz has also been captured and released on bond The change of tone on the part of the Saturday Review, London heretofore one of the strongest advocates of secession in England, excites much comment That journal looks upon recent Federal victories as great, if not decisive, and in a measure gives up the cause of the South as virtually lost The Liverpool Chamber held its regular half yearly meeting on the 2d — Speakers expressed the opinion that the American war was near its close The London Times argues that things are no better than they were

THE STEAMSHIP Sierra Nevada, F Conner, Commander, arrived in this city at 12 o clock Saturday night, from San Francisco, via Victoria She brings about 300 tons of freight The following is her

PASSENGERS—Steamship Sierra Nevada, Francis Connor Commander left San Francisco August 17th at 5 P M Passengers left Esquimalt 5 the 20th at 2 P M; left again on the Strait at 4 P M and arrived at Portland on the 22d at 2 P M

PASSENGERS—Major Worstle, U S A and son LM Johnson, Henry Baker I P Brinkerhoff, J H Cole, H H Bailey, Edgewood J Kaufman W Nelson, M Donnell J Walcott, Willamette J S Stanton J P Denis and lady F Abrams, R M Vaughn Miss McLane Mrs Hayes, Mrs Overbagh, Mrs Ramsay W McCoy H Rosenfeld, W H Bennett and lady, T W Woddingham J McHenry A Burk, P S Coleman, Mrs Head and wife Mrs Henry Wm Masters, Wm Hare, Thomas Wm Sidgreen, Coyne Mrs Offend Mrs Waters, Solomon Horton Weller, Fargo & Co's messenger) and 85 deck passengers

The steamer Sierra Nevada leaves this day according to the notice in our advertising columns We are sorry to learn from Captain Conner that the position of the new snags in the river is such as to make it a very perilous matter to run at night to and from this port Will our citizens consent that the channel shall be enormously obstructed? A little enterprise now will give free navigation, and we certainly believe that Portland does not intend that one or a thousand snags shall keep vessels from coming here We hope somebody who controls a steamboat will be willing to make an open highway to the Columbia river

IN ADVANCE OF THE MAILS —We received from Wells, Fargo & Co. a package of pictorials and newspapers from J W Sullivan, San Francisco, who somehow gets things when nobody else can, and what he gets is always worth having Sullivan knows how, and uses his knowledge generously

THE STEAMER Julia brought upwards of $40,000 in gold dust to Wells, Fargo & Co., after her arrival from the Dalles on Saturday We understand there was also a considerable quantity in the hands of passengers

THE WEATHER yesterday was warmer than any day during the past week, and rendered us forcibly of the perspiring sensation experienced in July The thermometer at evening at four o'clock indicated 73° in the sun and 96° in the shade

CHEERING —We last evening received a large piece of cake and some sparkling wine from Mr Isaac Rosenfeld, who, on the occasion of his union with Miss Mary Baer, did not fail to remember the neglected typo Our enthusiastic evil genius, after drowning a paper, devoutly prayed that the honeymoon of the happy pair would never end

SCHOLASTIC —The boarding and day schools of the Sisters of the Most Holy Names of Jesus and Mary, in this city, will resume studies this day A day school for boys and girls will be opened on the corner of Third and Oak streets.

THEATRICAL —There was a pretty fair attendance on Saturday evening, to witness the performance of "The Isle of St Tropez, or Kanaay the Poisoner," and we are pleased to say that the effective representation of this drama gave universal satisfaction Mr Wallon never appeared to greater advantage than in the character of "George Maurice" The two last scenes, in which he portrays the death agonies inflicted by the drugs of the poisoner, were most thrillingly effective, and at the close of the performance he was called before the curtain by the delighted audience "Hortense" was very naturally rendered by the talented artiste, Miss Mitchell, who on this occasion exceeded her usual excellent representations. Taken altogether, we consider this piece to be one of the most successful Mr. Waldron has yet produced

TO THE LADIES —Messrs. Stowell, Glaze & Co, proprietors of the Scandinavian restaurant, have opened an elegantly furnished dining room for ladies and families, over their establishment, where the best accommodations and every luxury of the season can be procured

TO TRAVELERS —We understand that our old friends Messrs Handley & Sinnott, have leased the Umatilla House, Dalles City, and will be prepared for the reception of guests by the 10th September All lovers of ease and good living would do well to call at the Umatilla House

It not only relieves the child from pain but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system It will almost instantly relieve

GRIPING IN THE BOWELS AND WIND COLIC We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN whether it arises from Teething or from any other cause Full directions for using will accompany each bottle None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS New York, is on the outside wrapper

Pugh on Compromising to Save the Union.

We have met, in our time, with neat hits and hard hits and solid knock-downs, but in all our experience we know not another blow so telling as that which is administered to George E. Pugh in the following leader from the Cincinnati Gazette, under the head of "Compromising to prevent Secession." Pugh made, in his speech at the Vallandigham Convention at Columbus, the following assertion, that compromise before the rebellion would have prevented it:

"The Democracy did not bring the war about—it was by the acts of the Administration in power. No one but the abject slave of the Administration would say that this controversy could not have been settled on honorable terms of peace. He knew he could not; and he did not state this as a matter of opinion, but as a fact."

Pugh states this as not an opinion, but a fact. He does not produce any evidence of this fact; therefore, we conclude that he speaks upon the evidence already upon record. We admit that Pugh knows from personal knowledge whether the controversy could have been settled so as to obviate the rebellion, and upon his knowledge of that fact we propose to discuss the subject of responsibility for the war, according to his own principle that not they who rebel, but they who did not prevent it by conceding to Southern demands, are guilty of the rebellion.

The terms of settlement were presented by the South in the Democratic Convention at Charleston, in a platform denying the power of Congress or of a Territorial Legislature to exclude slavery from any Territory, and asserting the duty of the Government to protect the rights and property of slave holders wherever its constitutional authority extends. This was their ultimatum. With this as the platform of the party, the Southern delegates declared their willingness to support any candidate nominated by the Convention, and to go on in harmonious control of the Democratic party as before. Without it, they declared their deliberate determination to secede from the Convention and split the party.

The Northern delegates knew that this would throw the election of President into the hands of the Republicans. Their stated method of influencing Northern elections was to proclaim that the election of a Republican President would make the South secede. It was the standing threat of the South in 1856, and its repetition constituted the chief electioneering ammunition of the Northern Democrats. Here they had the alternative presented to them of the Southern platform, or the secession and war which they had proclaimed in advance, and by proclaiming had encouraged. Here was where Pugh knew it to be a fact that the controversy could have been settled so as to avoid war; and the record of the Convention shows how he met the issue.

Pugh followed Yancy in a speech to the Convention, and thanked him for his honesty in placing it before the country that the South demanded an advance step from the Democratic party on the question of slavery. He went on to show that subserviency to Southern demands had reduced the Democratic party to a minority in the North. "And," said Pugh, "when we come here to debate with you, you commence by telling us we are an inferior class; that we shall not assume to have or express any opinions; that we shall not call upon you to stand by your plighted faith; that we shall put our hands on our mouths, and our mouths in the dust. Gentlemen, you greatly mistake us—we will not do it."

Here was the time when the difficulties might have been settled without secession and war, and here, in the face of the Southern threat of secession from the Convention and from the Union, Pugh refused to compromise. He told them that if these were the terms which they demanded as a condition of their stay in the Democratic ship, they must go. "If you choose to abandon it," said he, "if part from you we must, we will part from you without anger, but in sorrow."

Upon this performance of the Northern Democracy at Charleston, Mr. Pugh is justified in saying that he could state it as a matter of fact that the difficulties could have been settled without war; and by his principle, that they who did not prevent the rebellion by yielding to the demands of the South are responsible for the war, he has assumed its responsibility upon himself and the Northern section of the Democratic party.

The organization of the South for secession went on from that hour. When the Republican Administration came into power secession had begun. There has never been a time since the Democratic Convention when the South presented any terms. Mr. Pugh not only assumes for the Northern Democracy the whole guilt of the rebellion, but he now takes for them the abject attitude of the shabby Gideonites, when they presented themselves before the conquering tribes and meekly accepted the position of hewers of wood and drawers of water.

He confesses to the South that his defiance in the Charleston Convention was the mere extravagance of fear; that his declaration that there was any Southern demand which the Northern Democracy would not submit to, was the affected bluster of quaking hearts, ready to cringe so soon as the Southern lash was brought out; that the Northern Democracy are an inferior class, fit only for subjects, was a correct idea of the order of nature; and that they are now ready to make amends for their insurrection against their natural masters by submitting to everything that they refused then, by assuming all the guilt of the rebellion, and by eating any amount of dirt that may be prescribed in addition.

"What did you mean, sir?" fiercely asked a Judge of an Irish culprit before him, who had just been brought in guilty of carrying successively fourteen wives and deserting them all. "Plase yer Honor," was the immoral but ingenious reply, "I was trying to get a good one."
